Social Networking – What are the Ramifications?

Tuesday, Oct. 27
6 to 8 p.m.

SC4's Citizens First Michigan Technical Education Center, Room 150

The convergence of technologies has helped us to communicate from one device or several allowing us to text message our friends, receive e-mails, update our status at different social networking sites, check our bank account status, pay bills and, yes, even to talk with someone in real time. Today's smartphones allow us to do all that and more.

The implications of this always on and always updated world is consuming more and more of our free time, time we no longer have. What are the ramifications to our health, socialization and interaction with others? What are the benefits, as well? This seminar will address those questions and much more.
